

Title: Purgatory

Statement:

Much like the Carousel roundabout, I find one and all in a constant loop of their own incubuses. Over the past few years I have come across my own terrors where I have developed this constant numbness within myself, that I have failed to explain in words. Anxiously battling my own heaven and hell, I have illustrated through these images the only way I can try to understand and somewhat express how I truly feel inside.