Nucleus

By Eva Saukane

Nucleus is a poetic visual journey observing human attempts to observe, preserve, collect, understand, habituate and replicate the nature.

Photographs are made in Latvia, in the areas of Riga and Salaspils that since 1960s was known as the important science hub exploring the natural sciences and the space technologies.

While large institutions such as Salaspils Nuclear Research Reactor doesn't function anymore, other science institutes still conduct the science, though in much smaller scale.
