

I can't say that hiking Mt. Everest has always been a dream of mine. In fact, the thought never occurred to me until an email popped into my inbox last September entitled "Crazy Idea For You."

"You're going to think we're nuts," she had written. "My fiancé and I are getting married at Everest Base Camp, April 2019." She asked if I was interested photographing the three-week trek. Who could turn down an offer like that?

After twelve days of grueling trekking, we arrived at EBC, where the couple exchanged their vows and rings. Sherpas, trekkers and climbers threw rice into the air and wished them "Together Foreverest."

I took these photos on my Canon 5D III, (which lost a couple of buttons along the way through the Himalayas.) What a gift it was to photograph such love surrounded by such beauty!
