

The Earth behind us

This project is the beginning of big research and photoshooting of the places on the Earth, in our cities, districts, yards that are very close to us that are full of the garbage we don't see.

We sleep well, wash ourselves, make makeup, put on clean clothes each day. But we don't see our main mother is suffering from those thrown off things and trash we don't need.

We care much about our good looking. But we don't care about environment's looking.

With the help of fashion stylized models I'd like to show people the problem of our over consumption and huge pollution with our small garbage, waste and rubbish at first glance. But what is doing an enormous problem to the environment of the Earth in general.

In case we won't stop throwing out every unnecessary thing we will make selfies on these trash locations.

This is just the first two photo shoots, began in 2019.

The work is still going on.

For now I have 7 locations shooted and few of them only are done for your review.

And each day I'm searching for the new places full of trash and make the new depiction with the help of stylist for each location for the future shootings.
